openai.Completion.create(model="davinci general", prompt="End of I'm like going to like interview him I don't know like whatever again apparently it flashed the screen",max tokens=1024)

for me because his messenger would flash thescreen for me but I didn't know I would like tap the screen every so often and I would see his name so then I tap the screen and I tap his name and I'm like hi weirdo so I started asking him questions um I don't know his favorite like place to go he didn't like movieshe didn't like anything I was like weird we've only had one coffee together so I was like I have no idea why vou'recalling vourself your boyfriend like I have no Idea why you're calling yourself your boyfriend like we have like one coffee together and he's only like called me twice before this so it didn't make sense why he was calling himself his boyfriend besides the fact that hewanted me to call him my boyfriend which I was not doing in my head like like I wasn't gonna call him my boyfriend and I wasn't gonna like acceptthat he called himself my boyfriend because clearly it was a big conflict where it didn't make sense and he kept pushing on that too so I keptkind of just not replying to his things and then he's like hey can I FaceTime youand I was like yeah because I wanted to see what he looked like and then I was gonna tell him g[Music]could you not use that word because it's very problematic I was gonna tell him you're problematic I know so the first thing he does is tells me I love you look I'm laughing so hard that he does it I laid the law down too and I was like you cannot se that word to me cuz it's really re okay so I'm laughing so hard is he like I'm like oh yeah like while he's saying this I'm like you called me your girlfriend like I have no idea why your calling yourself your boyfriend you only had one coffee together he goes you called me your boyfriend and I was like I did not I I did not I did no not I did not I go how can you do this he was verymad that I was not calling him my boyfriend so we continue the conversation and it literally was nothing else in the conversation and I'mlike you sound like you don't have anything to say like you sound like you don't have anything to say I like stopped talkingcuz there was nothing else for me to say I ignored him for a couple of hours and then I started talking to like friends and stuff that I literally have as friends you have no idea how many livestream viewers ask me every single day why I hang out withmy friends what's the point like you have no idea how many people ask me that but like I have one friend ask me one time[Music]Has a streamer ever like asked why you hang out with your friends and I literally said that I literally commented literally I literally told themlike literally why the response is - I've never had a close friend before why we would live together I [LAUGHTER] show mesitting in front of the same table that my best friend and his friends are at I sit with my friend every day when we go places in los angeles and everythingit is literally always like this every single time it is the same group of people everywhere we go now obviously I don't do thefirst stream with them I show up after we smoke if we're gonna go to eat we go to you know I'm in las vegas they werethere recently with real friends it's funny that like you guys don't just dismiss them because also everybody asks me what TV I watchI don't really watch TV I don't really have time yeah like literally I'm sitting this whole time with like my best friend we startedhanging out a lot more and I was like hanging out with more friends I was for all intents and purposes try to like get out of solitude andlike talk to people because life was extremely like boring apartment didn't have furniture I'm literally walking around everywhere with ourfriends back and forth like a nomad I don't have time to stream and talk to